

SAVED FROM CATARRH OF LUNGS! SO COMMON IN WINTER BY TAKING PE-RU-NA.

Sore Throat Develops Into Bronchitis Mrs. Addie Harding, 121 W. Brighton Ave., Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been a user of Peruna for the past twelve years. With me it is a sure preventive of colds and many other ills."

Mrs. Addie Harding.

"Two or three times a year I am troubled with my throat, a kind of raw feeling, turning to bronchitis. I have had the services of my physician in each case. Two years ago, when I felt a spell coming, I tried Peruna to check it, and to my delight was not troubled with the smothered and choking feeling and never have been since.
I can check it every time with Peru-na."

Chronic Catarrh of Throat and Lungs Mrs. Virginia Cavanaugh, room 32, Cambridge Block, Portland, Ore., writes:

"I was a sufferer with catarrh of the throat and lungs for a long time before Peruna was recommended to me. I gave it a trial, although I thought at the time it would be just like other medicines and do me no good. I was pleased to find that my improvement began in less than two weeks and continued until I was entirely well. I gained nearly 15 pounds, have a splendid appetite and am grateful for what your medicine has done for me."

MANY YEARS OF LABOR LOST

Write a Book.

"I have been told," said a man of experience, "that it is not unusual for men to spend much thought and toil over inventions of one sort and another, only to find when they took these things to Washington to be patented that the same ideas had long before been worked out by somebody else and that patents had already been issued on them. I had that experience, once, with a book."

"I spent fourteen years, once, writing a book and I had it all but completed. And then one day, stopping at a second-hand book stall, I picked up from among a lot of books offered at five cents each one that bore a title in the very words that I had decided upon for the title of my book; and the opening sentence in this book was almost identical with that in my own."

"Somebody else had had the same idea that I had worked over so long, and had written and published a book about it fifty years before."

Rubber Prices Go Up.

It is thought likely, says the Journal of the Society of Arts, that the present year may see a considerable further advance in prices for rubber, but it may be expected that before long the supply will be ample for all demands. Not only are there immense tracts of rubber which remain untouched in Liberia and elsewhere, but the cultivation of the rubber tree is being rapidly extended.

Noiseless Paving.

The London County council has decided to pave with noiseless material the portions of street car tracks in front of churches and the education committee has proposed that similar material be laid in front of schools.

RESTORE STRENGTH

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually
Make New Blood and Good Health Follows.

The evil effects that follow many diseases—particularly the grip and the wasting fevers, such as typhoid and malaria, are caused by the bad condition in which these diseases leave the blood.
As a result, the flesh continues to fall away, the sufferer grows nervous and irritable, and even slight exertion causes shortness of breath. These are dangerous symptoms and indicate that the system is in a state that invites pneumonia, bronchitis or even consumption.
What is needed is a new supply of rich, red blood to carry health and strength to every part of the body.

"I was all run down from the effects of the grip," says Mrs. Amelia Hall, of No. 3 High street, Norwich, Conn., "and could not seem to get strength to walk; could not eat a full meal, my stomach was so weak, and I was so nervous that I could not sleep. I could only stay in bed a few minutes at a time, either night or day. The least little thing would startle me. I had difficulty in breathing and had frequent fainting spells." My general health was completely wrecked and I had neuralgic and rheumatic pains, dyspepsia, constipation, and female weakness. My physician attended me for the grip and again for the condition that it left in me, but I got no strength from the tonics he prescribed. In fact, nothing helped me until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they cured me.

"I grew stronger and gained flesh from the time I began taking them. I am satisfied that the pills are all that I needed for them and I shall do all I can to make their good qualities known."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure nervous disorders of every kind, check wasting diseases and build up strength.

Six Battalions of French Guard Made Final Attack at Waterloo.

Further light on the battle of Waterloo is shed by Prof. C. Oman of England. From the archives of the French war offices he has obtained information—never before made public—which is in the form of a return, signified by Desloges on the morning of the battles of Ligny and Quatre Bras. It will be recalled that M. Houssaye has stated—and it has been generally accepted—that only five battalions of the French Guard were engaged in Ney's final attack on the British light center at Waterloo. He says that the Fourth Chasseurs was a small regiment originally, and suffered so severely at Ligny that it was consolidated into a single battalion on June 18.
These assertions, Prof. Oman remarks, are contradicted (1) by the fact that it certainly had 1,041 bayonets—two full battalions—on the morning of Ligny, as shown by the new return which has been discovered, and (2) by the tables of M. Martinien, which demonstrate that the regiment lost not one single officer killed or wounded at Ligny. It cannot possibly have had more than twenty or thirty casualties in the rank and file, probably less. At Waterloo, therefore, it must have been still over 1,000 strong, and formed two full battalions. Ney's attack, therefore, was delivered by six, not five, battalions, supported, as we believe, by two more of the Second Chasseurs somewhere to the rear of the echelon formed by the others.—Brook-

WON WAGER BY BAITING VICTIM.

After Much Provocation Conductor
Was Caught Napping.

Some time in the seventies a party of friends en route to Boston from Portland on the Boston & Maine railroad, with Payson Tucker as conductor, hatched up a plot, and made a wager of a quart bottle of wine that Tucker couldn't be caught napping.
One of the party said that he would take the bet.

He separated from the others, and, as the conductor came along, asked what station they were then passing, and on receiving the reply he answered, "That's what I thought." This act was repeated several times, and finally "Conductor Payson" became very indignant, and said: "Do you take me for a d—d fool?"

"That's what I thought," replied the other, who now owned a quart of the finest wine.—Boston Herald.

Rainfall in China.

In northern China the average annual rainfall is under forty inches; it increases to the southward and decreases from the coast toward the interior of the empire, and in individual years it is subject to large fluctuations.
In Korea the annual fall is about thirty-six inches on the west coast and is generally more than forty inches on the east and south coasts.

Police Court Note.

Here is another gem from that prolific mine, the police court: "Prisoner used such strong language," said a constable, "that I was obliged to get the assistance of another officer to take him into custody."—London Telegraph.

THE EDITOR.

Explains How to Keep Up Mental and Physical Vigor.

A New Jersey editor writes:
"A long indulgence in improper food brought on a condition of nervous dyspepsia, nearly three years ago, so severe that I had to quit work entirely. I put myself on a strict regimen of Grape-Nuts food, with plenty of outdoor exercise and in a few months found my stomach so far restored that the process of digestion gave me pleasure instead of distress."

"It also built up my strength so that I was able to resume my business, which is onerous, as I not only edit my paper but also do a great deal of 'outside' writing."

"And that the Grape-Nuts diet enabled me to write with greater vigor than ever before, and without the feeling of brain fog with which I used to be troubled. As to bodily vigor—I can do walk miles every day without fatigue—a few squares used to weary me before I began to live on Grape-Nuts!" Name given by Postum Co.,

INVESTIGATION BEARING FRUIT

Chief Officials of Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company Indicted.

Larceny and Forgery Are Charged and Five True Bills Are Returned by the Grand Jury—Money Used to Settle Actions Against Officers of the Company.

New York—Indictments charging grand larceny in the first degree and forgery in the third degree by Frederick A. Burnham, president; George D. Eldridge, first vice president, and George Burnham, Jr., second vice president of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company, were found by the grand jury on Thursday. In all five indictments were brought against each officer, two for grand larceny and three for forgery. The alleged larceny and forgery was brought about, according to the indictments, by payments of $9,000 of the company's money to law firms, the apparent purpose of which is alleged to have been to settle claims against the company, while the real object is alleged to have been to settle actions which had been brought against officers of the company as individuals.
The indictments on which a charge of larceny is based alleged that the officers embezzled two sums, one of $2,500 and the other of $1,500, on October 24, 1901. The three officers appeared in the court of general session where Judge O'Sullivan fixed their bail at $12,500 for each, and fixed upon next Thursday as the time for pleading.

STIRRING UP SENTIMENT.

Meeting Held in Boston to Call Attention to Conditions in Congo Free State.

Boston—With a view to stirring up American sentiment against the reported conditions in the Congo Free State, a public meeting was held in Tremont Temple Thursday night under the auspices of the Congo Reform association. The meeting adopted resolutions calling upon the president and congress to deal with the situation in that country.

The speakers outlined the deplorable conditions said to exist in the African state, and appealed to the meeting for support of any action which might be found expedient by the United States government.

PARES DOWN ESTIMATE.

Appropriations Committee of House Gets Economical Streak.

Washington—The house committee on appropriations agreed on Thursday to report an executive and judicial appropriation bill carrying appropriations aggregating $29,134,181 as against $29,822,580 for 1906. The amount agreed on is a reduction of $1,135,578 from the estimates submitted to the committee by the various departments.

Salaries are carried in the bill for sixty-five less persons than were provided for in the last bill and the number of salaries contemplated in the estimates was reduced 226 by the committee. Many limitations on the appropriations are stipulated.

BATTLE ON SHIP'S DECK.

Mutiny of Fireman Results in Death of One of Malcontents.

New York—A mutiny in which one life was lost occurred Thursday on board the steamer Massachusetts, which was lying at her dock at Brooklyn.

James Slocum, a fireman, was killed during a revolver battle on the steamer's decks, in which the steamer's firemen were ranged on one side and opposing them were the ship's officers and members of the crew. Sounds of the fighting caused a reserve of police to be hurried to the steamer, but the firemen who had started the trouble had been driven into submission before the police arrived.

Were Looking for Excitement.

New York—Four young men who were arrested near Passaic, N. J., charged with attempting to wreck an east-bound Buffalo express train on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, have confessed that this was their sixth attempt at train wrecking. All of the attempts were made in the vicinity of Passaic. They said the only reason for the acts was a desire to see the excitement which would result.

Went Over the Bridge.

Rome—The marchioness of Corsini, formerly Princess Barberini, was killed Thursday by the overturning of automobile in which she was riding with her husband, who is King Victor Emmanuel's master of horse. The marchioness, who was 62 years old, was driving the automobile, her husband, 69 years, sitting beside her.
While crossing a bridge in the suburbs, seeing a cart approaching, the marchioness essayed to turn out to give the cart safe roadway.

Charges Strikers With Crime.

New York—William A. Maloney, a paymaster for Post & McCord on one of the buildings the firm is erecting with non-union iron workers, was burned and painfully cut Thursday night when a man whom he says he recognized as a striker threw a bottle filled with ammonia in his face.
Maloney fell to the ground, but as he did so pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired it to attract help. The man was captured, but refused to give his name or occupation.

WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused it to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estlin, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family.
For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert

Lydia E. Pinkham.

restoring the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped in the store, gradually filling a gross of bottles.
Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkhams in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1871, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until today Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The cases of every sick woman who applied to her for advice—and there were thousands—received careful study, and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands of letters, are available to sick women, the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs.
Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-earned knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its originator passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up. Yet her hands made almost as capable as herself, the present Mrs.
Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.
